Dear Mr. Noe:

I am sorry to say that yesterday, after taking my class to the Clearing House, the Stock Exchange and the Federal Reserve Bank, it was after two before we were able to get some lunch. Thereafter the girls were so tired that we decided to arrange a special visit to the Museum.

I hope to get in touch with you about this again when another date can be agreed upon.

With thanks for your kindness and looking forward to seeing you, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Noe:

I am arranging to bring to New York a group of Rutgers boys on Thursday, April 21st.

I am hoping that they will not get so tired as the girls did last week, and that we can all come up to the Museum in the afternoon.

Will that be alright from your point of view? If not, I am contemplating a special visit some time before the final exams. in May.

Thanking you for your kindness in the matter,
I am,,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Noe:

Both times last term our projected visits to the Museum failed because of the use of the available time in the Stock Exchange and at the Reserve Bank, so this term I am counting on separate journeys.

I'd like to bring the girls, about eighteen of them, on Saturday, November 5th in the morning, if that would be agreeable to you.

Thanking you for your courtesy in the past,
I am,

Dear Sir:

Yours of October 13th is at hand. You will be welcome at our Museum on the date you specify. Will you kindly ask for Mr. Wood, our Curator, as I plan to be in Minneapolis that week.

Regretting that I shall not have the pleasure of meeting and greeting you and trusting that I may be more fortunate in New Brunswick during the winter, I am

Dear Mr. Noe:

I am writing to inquire whether we could arrange to have a little exhibit in our library here under your auspices to illustrate the evolution of money. I would like to arrange for it for the last week in November and the first week in December.

Not only do we study monetary evolution as a topic in our general course on Money and Banking, but on December 3rd I am to give a talk on the subject before the Phi Beta Kappa Society. I would like to illustrate this talk by showing some of your specimens. We can supply you with some competent assistance here should you want it, and as, of course, you know Mr. Osborne in the library would be glad to cooperate.

Kindly let me know what your feeling about this proposal may be.

Cordially yours,

E. E. Agger

Dear Dr. Aggers:

Your letter of the 19th is at hand. If your proposition involves an arrangement of coins already in the possession of the library, I should be glad to have you call on me at my home on Bishop Place. You could arrange an evening appointment which would be mutually convenient. My telephone number is 446-J.

If it was your thought to borrow the Traveling Exhibit concerning which I talked to Mr. Osborne, that would be an entirely different matter, but I think it could be arranged for the time you specify.

Very truly yours,

Secretary

Dear brother Noe:

Apparently our coin exhibit was a great success. The library authorities tell me that the students visited it in large numbers.

My secretary, Mr. Crystal, who helped me arrange the exhibit will pack it in the boxes just as it came to us and will turn it over to Mr. Osborn to be delivered to you when you may wish to take it.

I had hoped to call and thank you in person and I shall do so after the holidays, but I have been much occupied getting ready to leave for that operation of mine. I go to the hospital this evening, but expect to be home by Christmas.

Wishing you and Mrs. Noe and the family a very happy holiday season, I am,

Faithfully yours,

EEA:H
